(12) Even in Madras, it is the total emoluments that appears to be the basis for determining the eligibility to Dearness Allowance or to the graded scale of it as in the cutting from the News-paper enclosed in the file, both the terms "Pay and Emoluments" are used

(13) The definition of the term "Salary" as indicated in the file is equitable, was used by us during the last War and may kindly be approved.

In Madras, the amount of dearness allowance depends upon "Emoluments" of the Govt Servant.
"Emoluments" include the amount drawn monthly by a Govt Servant as Pay, Special pay, Personal pay & other payments classed as 'Pay', overtime allowances, Fees and Pension including any such amounts drawn

In Mysore, 'Salary' for the purpose of Dearness Allowance has been defined as including all emoluments excepting conveyance allowances and Local Allowances given on account of unhealthiness or expensiveness of the locality.

I think that we may decide to follow the interpretation given in Madras, as per Madras Accounts General's letter to the Comptroller, for the term 'emoluments' for purposes of Dearness Allowance.

By this, all allowances have to be included except house-rent allow., conveyance allow. & special locality allow.

I do not think we need change our practice wherever Madras conditions are different & any change is bringing arguments may create discontent in service if they get less in certain cases.
